

Endangered species are plants or animals which exist in very few numbers today. The best way to save endangered species is to protect the areas where they live. For example, manatees eat plants in shallow water. Can you think of a way a boater can protect the manatee?